Graphic designer

ABOUT ME

I'm a 29-year-old graphic designer with an academic background in IT engineering and an MBA in Project Management. Although I started my journey in the tech field, my passion for visual creativity led me to complete specialized design courses and transition into graphic design professionally. My work blends artistic vision with strong technical and analytical skills, allowing me to create designs that are not only visually appealing but also purposeful and user-centered.

I'm deeply committed to continuous growth and always eager to explore new tools, trends, and design strategies. With a proactive mindset, attention to detail, and strong collaboration skills, I bring both creativity and efficiency to every project I take on.
